

Urging Sask WCB to stop overcharging employers!

As a Saskatchewan business owner, thank you for listening to employers and rebating 100% of the $281.5 million from 2015. I will use my rebate cheque to reinvest back in my business and further improve safety training.

While I recognize the importance of every WCB being fiscally sustainable in the long-term, CFIB research shows the Sask WCB is one of the most over-funded boards in Canada.

Currently, the WCB Injury Fund has a funding target between 105% to 120% (assets in excess of liabilities). Funding above 122% is distributed to employers at the WCB's discretion, over a period of five years. In 2015, the WCB was $281.5 million, or 144.7% overfunded.

I urge you to fix WCB's funding policy by:

- Changing the funding range from 105-120% to 100-110%;
- Rebating surplus monies when funds rise above a threshold of 110%; and
- Rebating the surplus in the year it is realized; not over a 5 year period.
